US Hardwood in Chair Design Debut American Hardwood Export Council Greater China Furniture Design Competition launched

The debut American Hardwood Export Council Greater China Furniture Design Competition is officially launched and the theme of this year is “Chair”. Participants are requested to use US hardwood as the main design material for creating brilliant chair design.

Participants can submit their designs to the competition secretariat by the deadline of November 30, 2011. Either American Cherry or Tulipwood should be used as the main design material and participants are encouraged to demonstrate the beauty of US hardwood by their designs.

American Hardwood Export Council Southeast Asia and Greater China Regional Director Mr John Chan said, "In the ranking of China top ten's most popular American hardwood species, American Cherry and Tulipwood has been the two most popular species in the past several years. These two species are suitable for furniture production and widely used by designers." American Cherry is mainly red in color and has straight uniform grain. American Tulipwood is one of the largest trees in the US forest. Its sapwood is in creamy white color and may be streaked, with heartwood varying from pale yellowish brown to olive green.
